The Pearl Collective

A Continued McCorquodale Partnership in the Design Community

About Pearl Collective

Pearl Collective is a Denver-based business consultancy dedicated to helping interior design firms build stronger, more profitable and sustainable businesses. Led by co-founders Gail Doby and Erin Weir, the team provides coaching, consulting, education and industry events focused on areas including profitability, leadership, marketing and business growth.

Our Partnership

McCorquodale Transfer is proud to continue our partnership with Pearl Collective and support its work within the interior design community. Through shared events, educational opportunities and industry connections, our relationship gives us the opportunity to engage with designers beyond the logistics of their projects and support the continued growth of their businesses.

The Pearl Collective x McCorquodale Transfer

Denver Topgolf Event

McCorquodale Transfer was proud to sponsor a fun-filled evening at Topgolf in Denver, bringing together members of the interior design community for an evening of networking, friendly competition, and connection.

The event was a wonderful opportunity to strengthen existing relationships, make new connections, and spend time with talented designers outside of their busy schedules. We always enjoy supporting events that bring the design community together and look forward to more opportunities to connect in Denver!
